Our Sleep.
As a race we sleep too little. An infant's life is nearly all sleep. Gradually as the child grows older the hours of sleep are shortened. Youth till the age of twenty is reached requires fully ten hours' sleep. Although nature demands fewer hours' sleep in summer than in winter, it has been proved that eight hours of sleep are required for the average adult in good health. By this is meant not simply eight hours in bed, but that amount of good, sound, restful sleep night after night. Our power to work is intimately related to our ability to sleep, and there is no more reliable indication of sound health than the capacity to sleep naturally, and the more active and energetic the waking life the deeper the sleep.

TUBERCULOSIS IN HOGS.

Healthiest Appearing Animals Often are Rejected at Slaughter House,

Tuberculosis may be lurking in your pig pens. Look out for it. Hogs appearing thrifty and well may show infection at the slaughterhouse. One in four may be rejected. HISTORIC KAVALA.

This Grecian Seaport Was Known as

Nespolis In St. Paul's Time. Kavala, the Grecian seaport which has figured so often in press dispatches during recent years, is noted as the birthplace of Mehemet All, the remarkable son of an Albanian farmer whose career as viceroy of Egypt during the first balf of the nineteenth century almost precipitated Europe into a war of nations. The house in which this witty, wily pasha was born in 1769 is in a narrow, crooked street not far from the Turkish school which he founded, although he himself never learned to read or write.

In Roman days Kavala was known as Neapolis, and it was here that St. Paul Philippi, where there was a thriving colony of Christians, to whom the Epis-

Here the fleet of Brutus and Cassius was at anchor during the famous conflict on the fields of Philippi in 12 B. C., when the assassinators of Julius Caesar met defeat at the hands of the legions commanded by Antony and Octavius.

Practically all that remains to connect ancient Neapolls with modern Kavala is a Roman aqueduct, whose two tier arches still convey water from Mount Pangeus to the town and
